Infrared heat is something that we all give off naturally as a way for our body to rid ourselves of toxins. The sun used to be a great source for all of us, however because of our depleted ozone it no longer is a safe means of obtaining these vital rays.

This is a personal/industry coaching service located in Suffolk County, New York. Our goal is to bring the substantial advantages of positive psychology to the processes of alternative medicine for an amplified synergy of mind and body. Our belief is that we are all built for bliss and what separates us from that as a more ongoing reality in our lives are the assumptions we have acquired that are the filter with which we meet every moment of our lives and which can have very negative implications for our mental and physical well being. A transformed filter using the new understanding of neuroplasticity and the proven interventions of positive psychology can create an upward spiral of happiness and creativity for motivated individuals, groups and enterprises of every kind.
